

Leading Independent Proxy Advisory Firms ISS and Egan-Jones Recommend Shareholders Vote FOR ALL CONMED Director Nominees

Recommend CONMED Shareholders "Do Not Vote" For Any of the Voce Nominees

UTICA, N.Y., Aug. 29, 2014 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- CONMED Corporation (Nasdaq:CNMD) today announced that Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS) and Egan-Jones Proxy Services ("Egan-Jones"), leading independent proxy advisory firms, have recommended that CONMED shareholders vote "FOR" ALL of CONMED's director nominees on the GOLD proxy card at the Company's September 10, 2014 Annual Meeting of Shareholders. In supporting CONMED's entire slate of director nominees, ISS and Egan-Jones recommend that shareholders "do not vote" for any of the three nominees proposed by Voce Capital Management LLC ("Voce").

Commenting on the ISS and Egan-Jones reports, CONMED issued the following statement:

We are pleased that ISS and Egan-Jones support the election of ALL of CONMED's highly qualified and experienced director nominees. These recommendations reinforce our belief that CONMED has the right Board in place to oversee the continued development and execution of CONMED's strategic plan to grow revenues and margins and improve CONMED's operating performance. As a result of a process that began in late 2012, CONMED has implemented sweeping changes that have resulted in a reconstituted Board, a number of other meaningful governance changes and a new interim CEO. We strongly urge our shareholders to join ISS in supporting CONMED's Board as we seek to create long-term shareholder value.

In its August 28, 2014 report, ISS stated<sup>1</sup>:

- "the dissidents have not made a compelling case that additional change at the board level is warranted."
- "this board undertook the arduous process not only of replacing nearly all the incumbents within the past year five of the eight management nominees were not on the board a year ago but also of easing the founder and his son, who as Chairman and as CEO certainly had direct roles in the company's strategic and governance decisions, and fairly direct responsibility for its operating results out of those roles and then off the board entirely. Neither of these tasks is accomplished from outside the boardroom: a proxy contest, after all, is entirely about gaining influence within the boardroom, in the belief that is where the true authority to drive necessary change originates. In this regard, it may be significant that the longest serving of the management nominees also chaired the Nominating and Governance Committee when these processes apparently began in 2012."
- "A nominee's skills and experience are generally more relevant criteria for assessing his candidacy than the percentage of shares he beneficially owns. When as here, however, there is no obvious shortcoming in the targeted nominee that is not shared in apparently equal measure by the proposed replacement, it may be worth considering that the degree of exposure to bad board stewardship Lande's fund holds about ten times the number of shares the dissidents hold is not a bad fallback criterion."

In its August 27, 2014 report, Egan-Jones stated<sup>1</sup>:

We believe that support for voting the Management ballot is merited and that voting the management ballot (GOLD PROXY CARD) is in the best interest of the Company and its shareholders. In arriving at that conclusion, we have considered the following factors:

1. Our belief that the various, major governance changes implemented since July 2013 not only have enhanced the Company's corporate governance practices and contributed to effective representation of the Company's shareholders but hold great promise for the Company's future. Among such changes are a significantly re-constituted board of directors with new chairman Mark Tryniski and new chairmen of the key board committees (Audit Committee, Compensation Committee, and Corporate Governance & Nominating Committee).

2. Our belief that recently appointed Interim CEO Curt Hartman should be given the opportunity to exercise his skills and experience, seeing his plans for the Company bear fruit until such time as a permanent CEO is hired, whether or not that should ultimately turn out to be Mr. Hartman.

3. Our belief that the Company is to be applauded on having conducted a six-month study of strategic alternatives, including business combinations and including outreach to potential financial and strategic counterparties, with the assistance of investment bankers Bank of America Merrill Lynch and Greenhill & Co. and attorneys Sullivan & Cromwell.

4. Our belief that the dissidents have failed to make a persuasive case that their joining the board would result in the enhancement of shareholder value.

CONMED shareholders are reminded that their vote is extremely important, no matter how many or how few shares they own. The CONMED Board strongly urges shareholders to protect the value of their investment in CONMED by following the ISS and Egan-Jones recommendations, and voting on the GOLD proxy card "FOR" ALL of CONMED's experienced and highly qualified director nominees: Brian Concannon (CEO of Haemonetics Corporation), Charles Farkas (Senior Partner at Bain & Company), Jo Ann Golden (CPA, Retired Managing Partner at Dermody Burke and Brown), Curt Hartman (CONMED Interim CEO, and Former Interim CEO and CFO of Stryker Corporation), Dirk Kuyper (CEO of Illuminoss Medical Inc.), Jerome Lande (Managing Partner of Coppersmith Capital), Stephen Mandia (Former CEO of Sovena USA) and Mark Tryniski (CEO of Community Bank).
